CHECKING IN

Check in online and generate boarding pass

From 48 hours to 90 minutes before departure, passengers can check in and generate a digital boarding pass online or via the SingaporeAir mobile app.

Print baggage tags and check in bags at the automated bag drop

Passengers can use self-service kiosks at selected airports to print baggage tags for declared bags, by scanning digital or mobile boarding pass. Checked baggage can also be declared via the kiosks. Once tags have been printed, attach them to bags and drop them off at the automated bag drop counters.

Undergo a health assessment

Passenger should expect to undergo a basic health assessment at the airport. Depending on the airport, this may include temperature screening or questionnaires about travel history.

ON BOARD

Our cabin crew will be wearing Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) such as masks, goggles or eye visors throughout the flight, when interacting with passengers. Gloves are worn when serving meals.

Receive an SIA care kit

Passengers will receive a complimentary care kit containing a face mask, hand sanitizer, and disinfectant surface wipe for their well-being.

Sanitized cabin environment

Before every flight, the aircraft is thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Lavatories are cleaned with high-strength disinfectants and cabin surfaces are treated with a long-lasting antimicrobial coating.

Filtered, clean air

Every aircraft is equipped with HEPA filters, which remove more than 99.9% of the microbes in the air. Cabin air is also refreshed every two to three minutes throughout the flight.

Fresh linens and headsets

After every flight, all headsets, headrest covers, pillow covers, bedsheets and blankets are replaced. Linens are sanitized and headsets are disinfected and packed individually.

Food safety and hygiene standards

Our catering partners uphold the highest hygiene standards including personal protective equipment for food handlers and using automation to reduce contact. Note that meal services may be simplified on certain flights to meet regulatory requirements.
